There is no bull market like a uranium bull market. Compare the bull markets of gold and uranium from 2003 to 2008: while the price of gold doubled, the spot price of uranium increased remarkably from $10/lb. to $136/lb. During this period, money was made in gold stocks, but even more money was made in uranium stocks. Uranium equities went parabolic and some went up hundreds of times. Analysts are forecasting that the current uranium bear market is about to end. Now is the time to discover quality uranium investments before this inevitable bull market takes off.
